Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Diebold (EP0,856,293 submitted by applicant) in view of Anspach, Jr. (5,102,421).

With respect to claims 1,13, 15, Diebold discloses an osteosynthesis and compression screw for coaptation of small bone fragments, the screw being formed by a single longitudinal body having a longitudinal axis, and comprising a proximal portion formed by a screw head (1) provided with an outside thread, the proximal portion being of diameter greater than the diameter of the remainder of the screw, and intermediate portion (2) having no thread; and a distal portion (3) provided with an outside threads; as best seen in FIG.1, each of the screw head and the distal portion includes at least one groove (11) extending over the entire axial length of its threads, and secondly being formed through each thread in such a manner to form tapping means (14,15) and the terminal zero of the distal portion is provided with preparation means, as best seen in FIG.2,for preparing a housing in the bone fragment for receiving the intermediate and distal portions of the screw, and wherein the screw is used for coaptation of bone fragments in the step of: compressing the bone fragments by the insertion and turning of the screw; as set forth in the abstract and as set forth in column 1, lines 12-58, column 2, lines 1-58.

Art Unit: 3733

It is noted that Diebold did not teach of at least one helical groove; as claimed by applicant. However, in a similar art, Anspach, Jr. provides the evidences of the use of a screw with at least one helical groove (20, 22, 24, 26 respectively), to facilitate the rotation of the screw into bone and to prevent the screw from coming out.

Therefore, given the teaching of Anspach, Jr., it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the device of Diebold, as taught by Anspach, Jr., to facilitate the rotation of the screw into bone and to prevent the screw from coming out.

With respect to claims 3-12, 14,16-20, the above combination of references teaches all the limitations, such as, the angle being thirty degrees, the groove being constant, the variation of each groove, the increases of the grooves towards the terminal zone of the screw, the tooth extending substantially axially, the central longitudinal bore, as set forth in column 4, lines 29-58, column 5, lines 1-31; and as best seen in FIGS.1-6 of Diebold; also as set forth in column 3, lines 6-25, and as best seen in FIGS.1-5 of Anspach, Jr..

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see Remarks, filed 6/24/09, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1,3-20 under 103 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Diebold/Anspach, Jr.

Conclusion

A shortened statutory period for reply to this action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action.
